

NebulaByte_AI_Strategy_Report

NebulaByte's AI Division has developed a multi-agent architecture designed to enable autonomous collaboration between generative AI systems and retrieval modules. The current focus is on optimizing retrieval augmentation and decision routing. The project highlights include integration of FAISS-based knowledge stores, adaptive controller agents, and secure API-driven pipelines.